

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A topical gel formulation of oxybutynin is provided that exhibits enhanced bioavailability, minimized adverse side effects and skin irritations, and improved patient compliance compared to the existing oral and transdermal formulations of oxybutynin.